2-Year-Old Girl Sought In Utah-Colorado Wilds

GUNNISON, Colo. (AP)—Two tiny girls, ages 2 and 3, wandered away from family outings into Western wilderness areas and set off huge rescue efforts in Utah and Colorado. Friday the oldest was found unharmed. The youngest was still missing.

Kathy Bebee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bebee Jr., Cripple Creek, Colo., was discovered wandering about in tears by a member of a 300-man search party in National Forest, 45 miles northeast of here. She had suffered only scratches from a night and half-day in the woods.

Vilate Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Young, Montview, Idaho, was being sought by plane and on foot in a rugged and remote section of southern Utah near the farming community of Winslow. She wandered away from a family picnic at the Newell Stead ranch Thursday.

Wayne McLaughlin, a summer student at Western State College at Gunnison, found Kathy. The child, clad only in T-shirt, jeans and sandals, disappeared Thursday evening while on a camping trip with her parents. She told McLaughlin she curled up and slept on the ground Thursday night, then resumed her wanderings at daybreak. She was found about a mile and a half from the Bebee camp.

More than 100 searchers were out in the Utah region looking for Vilate. The search started after a cousin returned to the picnicers and said, "Vilate has gone up the hill and won't come back."

Officers said a teddy bear, belonging to the girl, was found near the spot where she was last reported seen. No other clues have been reported.

Mary Canvans Mrs. Sherman Cranor, who with her husband operates a grocery store 13 miles from the Bebee camp site, said there are many canyons in the area. She added that lions and bears have been sighted in the district in recent weeks.

During the afternoon eastern Colorado and western Nebraska were plagued with wind and dust storms. Sidney and Chadron also received the brunt of the dust storms.

During the morning Friday Imperial had a light rain shower that brought .43 of an inch of precipitation. The Republican River was still causing some concern Friday as it went 1 1/2 feet over its banks at Cambridge. Driewood Creek, a Republican tributary, crested at about bankful at McCook.

Lamar, 21 miles west of Imperial, had heavy damage from hail and wind during a Thursday night storm.

Hail Pelts Iowa Cloudbursts and hail storms struck in widely separated parts of Iowa Friday, causing locally heavy damage on farms and sending creeks out of their banks.

One storm struck the northwestern Iowa area of Clay and Palo Alto counties near Spencer and damage from hail was reported heavy. Rainfall measured up to an official nine inches south of Spencer.

Other storms hit in southeastern Iowa around Mount Pleasant, Parnell, North English, Millersburg and Wapello and local floods were reported throughout that area.

—Bubbling Good Humor— Aid Hints Ike Hat Is In Ring

President Breaks His Personal Politics Silence To Hagerty, Press Chief Beams

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (INS)—President Eisenhower broke his silence on "personal politics" Friday and the jubilant reaction of a key aid strongly indicated the chief executive said his hat is still in the ring for a second term.

The President confided his plans to his news secretary, James C. Hagerty. Later, grinning from ear to ear, Hagerty told newsmen: "It was a personal conversation and I'm not at liberty to discuss it."

But Hagerty's bubbling good humor and his hint that Mr. Eisenhower might affirm his second-term decision at a Gettysburg news conference next week left little doubt that the President had decided his abdominal operation need not alter his plan to run for re-election.

Adding to this impression was a report from Mr. Eisenhower's doctors saying the chief executive "had a very satisfactory week" and that his "convalescent progress has been steady and uneventful."

The report, which Hagerty relayed to newsmen, added that Mr. Eisenhower has continued to gain strength daily and "is eating a normal diet" of 2,500 calories a day, 700 more than he had been allowed after his heart attack.

The news secretary also quoted Dr. Isidor Ravdin, of Philadelphia, one of the doctors who operated on the President, as saying following a check-up on the President that he has shown a "marked improvement" since leaving the hospital.

'Loafed' Mr. Eisenhower just "loafed" around Friday afternoon, Hagerty reported, practicing some chip shots and doing some putting on the golf green just outside his house.

Hagerty also disclosed significantly that while he was with the President, Mr. Eisenhower telephoned presidential assistant Sherman Adams in Washington and discussed what the news secretary called "both general and personal politics."

Adams did not make his usual daily trip from the White House to the Eisenhower Gettysburg farm because of drizzly weather which made flying conditions bad and highways slick.

The phone call apparently freed Adams for whatever political action he may wish to take in the next few days, for Hagerty announced that barring an emergency, the presidential assistant would not come to Gettysburg again until Monday.

Hagerty's spirits were higher after his "personal" talk with the President than at any time since Mr. Eisenhower was rushed to Walter Reed Hospital four weeks ago Friday.

PO Rate Hike OK In House

Boost Would Cost $430 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Friday night passed a bill raising postal rates $430,000,000 a year. The bill would raise the cost of mailing a first class letter from three cents to four cents.

The vote was 217-165. The measure now goes to the Senate, where it faces an uncertain future in the waning days of this session of Congress.

Opposed by a majority of House Democrats, the bill was supported solidly by Republicans and some Southern Democrats. The vote represented a victory for President Eisenhower and his administration.

Since 1953, the administration has sought rate increases from Congress sufficient to offset an annual Post Office deficit running up to half a billion dollars, and to put the postal service on a balanced operating budget.

Democrats centered their fire on the increase in first class mailing rates.

This increase, representing $295,700,000 of the total annual revenue increase, was branded unfair by Democratic critics and described as a "33 1/3 per cent tax" on ordinary mail users.

On the final roll call vote, 178 Republicans and 39 Democrats voted for passage of the bill. Only four Republicans joined 161 Democrats in voting against it.

Postal rate increases are a rarity in an election year. All increases would become effective Jan. 1, 1957, except for second class increases which would take effect immediately once the bill became law.

In addition to increasing the rate on first class mail from 3 to 4 cents an ounce, the bill also would raise the rate on airmail postage from 6 to 7 cents.

Rates on second class rates applying to newspapers and other commercial publications would go up a total of 4 1/2 million dollars a year, becoming fully effective after five years of equal annual increases.

Kidnaper Contacted Once And Then Lost

No New Instructions Heard For Delivery Of Ransom Boosted To $5,000

WESTBURY, N. Y. (INS)—Attempts to re-establish contact with the kidnaper of infant Peter Weinberger Friday night failed to produce new instructions on delivery of the demanded $5,000 ransom.

Morris Weinberger, the month-old child's anguished father, labeled as "fake" one message received by NBC news commentator John K. McCaffrey, who volunteered himself as an intermediary in ransom negotiations.

McCaffrey, after broadcasting the parents' emphatic "am ready to meet your demands" message to the kidnaper in accordance with instructions given the family by the abductor Friday morning, said calls he received following the telecast were inconclusive.

The parents of the missing child had been advised in their phone contact with the kidnaper Friday morning that he would be watching the afternoon papers and listening to McCaffrey's 11 p.m. program (on WRCA-TV).

The phone call Friday morning was the first contact made since the child was snatched from the carriage on the patio of his parents' home in exclusive Westbury at about 3:15 p.m. Wednesday.

However, it was reported later in the day that representatives of Mr. and Mrs. Weinberger had made personal contact with the kidnaper, following phone calls in which the ransom demand was hiked from $2,000 to $5,000.

McCaffrey, after announcing the willingness of the wealthy drug salesman to go along with the kidnaper's demands, said he had received a cryptic phone call before going on the air.

The commentator said the man identified himself with the letters "MW PF" and told McCaffrey to relay the message "OK" to the Weinbergers.

The Weinbergers told I.N.S.: "The code means nothing to us. We had no pre-arranged signal and don't know anything about this 'MW PF.' It's now a matter of hoping, waiting and praying for something to happen."

On his broadcast, the commentator appealed to the "kidnaper or kidnappers" to return the infant alive and soon. He gave the telephone number of a pay station and informed the kidnaper he would maintain a half-hour vigil at the phone after he went off the air at 11:10 p.m.

McCaffrey declared that Nassau County police had assured him they would not interfere in any way. The commentator received 20 to 30 calls, he said, of which three might "conceivably be genuine."

Two were from the same man and the third from a woman. The others McCaffrey called from cranks or pranksters, who he couldn't use printable words to describe.

Visits State, Gives Views

CANDIDATE HOT, TIRED

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

SYRACUSE, Neb. — A hot, tired Adlai Stevenson declared Friday farmers "are ready for effective production controls if they can get proper prices."

Stevenson said he feels farmers want adequate prices and would be willing to accept such controls. "Prices," he said, "are far more important than the drought."

The Democrats' 1952 presidential standard-bearer has been touring eastern Iowa, northwestern Missouri and southeastern Nebraska on what he calls a "listening tour" to find out what farmers are thinking.

The mercury read 92 in the shade Friday as Stevenson stopped at the Gellermann Service Station just north of Syracuse at the intersection of State Highways 2 and 50 for a brief news conference.

He appeared tired, and spoke quietly and seriously about the farm situation. Costless, tireless and hatless, he had his sleeves rolled up.

Looks Better

The former Illinois governor said the farm areas he toured Friday "looked a lot better" than those he visited in Iowa Thursday. He said he "couldn't see that things are so awfully bad" in the Brownville-Tecumseh-Syracuse area of Nebraska, and added that recent rains must have helped the situation greatly.

Stevenson said some areas of southern Iowa had been hit hard by drought and that "a lot" of farmers in the area have had to sell their cattle. He also said he had noticed a number of unoccupied farms.

Nebraska Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Sorelli of Syracuse told Stevenson many Nebraska farmers had also been in bad shape but that the situation has improved greatly since early June.

Stevenson said Democratic chances were looking a lot better, "especially in Iowa... but I don't know much about this (eastern Nebraska) section." He asked Sorelli if the area is "Republican territory." Sorelli said yes, but added the Democrats were making gains.

'Next President'

Sorelli didn't know Stevenson was in the area until notified by Syracuse school teacher Cal Hager. Sorelli drove immediately to the service station and, shaking Stevenson's hand, said "It is a pleasure to greet the next president of the United States."

Stevenson told Sorelli he had heard some persons say the "net position" of the farmer is worse now than in 1934. Sorelli said he felt it was, pointing to increased machinery and living expenses. Stevenson agreed that "it is quite different from when I was a boy."

Stevenson said he feels emphasis should be put on "genetic soil conservation" by planting more soil-conserving crops. Increased acreage on forage crops, he said, would allow the law of supply and demand to operate more normally than it now can.

No 'New Approach'

He said he couldn't say that he'd heard any "new approach" to solving farm problems while on his tour, and that he hadn't formed any ideas for new "plans" in the Democratic platform.

The Stevenson party, which included Arthur Thompson, editor of "Wallace's Farmer," and Don Murphy, also an editor of the farm publication, entered Nebraska at Brownville and drove through Auburn, Tecumseh and Syracuse and then went via Plattsmouth to Omaha to spend the night.

The only Nebraska stop besides Syracuse was at Auburn where he walked in on the surprised staff of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. He asked office manager Henry Petersen what percentage of farmers in the area were staying within their government corn allotments.

55-60% in Allotment

Petersen told him at least 55 to 60 per cent of the farmers checked so far had stayed within the allotments, thus establishing eligibility to benefit under soil bank provisions. The allotments were established on the basis of acreage planted the last three years.

Stevenson will meet with Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle in Omaha Saturday before flying to Des Moines in mid-afternoon.

Nebraska Men May Be Freed

2 Americans Are Returned

From Press Dispatches
HONG KONG — Chinese Reds were reported Friday to be considering the release of three Roman Catholic clergymen soon. Two of the men were Nebraskans and one a Pennsylvanian.

News of the impending release of the Most Rev. Bishop Ambrose H. Pinger of Lindsay, Neb., and of the Revs. Fulgence Gross of

FR. GROSS

Omaha and Cyril Wagner of Pittsburg came from Catholic sources as two American Jesuit priests returned to freedom after three years in Red Chinese captivity.

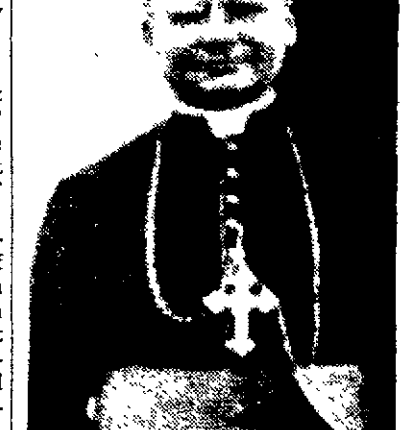

The two, the Rev. John W. Clifford, 39, and the Rev. Thomas L. Phillips, 52, both of San Francisco, arrived from Shanghai aboard the German freighter Hamburg.

"It's certainly good to be back," Fr. Clifford, former instructor at Santa Clara, Calif., University told a news conference.

"I will second that," said Fr. Phillips.

Speculation said the other three religious men may be released because they were recently taken on a 2,000-mile tour of China, a customary Communist propaganda practice before releasing Americans.

Bishop Pinger, 58, and Fr. Gross were both missionaries of the Franciscan order for about 20 years.

BISHOP PINGER

Bishop Pinger was arrested in 1951 and was sent to prison after a period of house arrest. Fr. Gross was arrested in Tsingtao in April, 1951. He had been repatriated from China to the United States during World War II.

At the news conference, both priests said it was not until October 1955, that they were sentenced to three years in prison on espionage and counterrevolutionary charges.

"Our only crime was that we were priests and the Communists are prosecuting the Catholic Church," Fr. Phillips said.

He said he was awakened and arrested the same night as Fr. Clifford, June 15, 1953.

Father Phillips appeared slightly nervous as he talked to newsmen. He sipped coffee, "the first I have had in years." As to food in prison he observed:

"We got plenty of rice and cabbage, in fact all we wanted if you could eat it. I got so I could eat up to three bowls — of rice — a day."

2 Bancroft Boys Drown

BANCROFT, Neb. (AP)—Carl Dinsberg, 11, and Larry Hermelbracht, 9, both of Bancroft, were drowned Friday afternoon in a drainage ditch near here.

The water where the bodies were recovered was 12 feet deep.

A third youth, who was unidentified, said the Hermelbracht boy was swimming in the ditch and suddenly started calling for help. He said that when the Dinsberg youth leaned in to try to save him, the younger boy grabbed on to him and they both went under.

The time of the drowning was estimated at around 2 p.m. It took rescue workers an hour and a half to recover the bodies from the deep water.

Carl was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dinsberg, and Larry was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hermelbracht, all of Bancroft.

Boost Would Cost $430 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Friday night passed a bill raising postal rates $430,100,000 a year. The bill would raise the cost of mailing a first class letter from three cents to four cents.

The vote was 217-165. The measure now goes to the Senate, where it faces an uncertain future in the waning days of this session of Congress.

Opposed by a majority of House Democrats, the bill was supported solidly by Republicans and some Southern Democrats. The vote represented a victory for President Eisenhower and his administration.

Since 1953, the administration has sought rate increases from Congress sufficient to offset an annual Post Office deficit running up to half a billion dollars, and to put the postal service on a balanced operating budget.

Democrats centered their fire on the increase in first class mailing rates.

This increase, representing $295,700,000 of the total annual revenue increase, was branded unfair by Democratic critics and described as a "33-1/3 per cent tax" on ordinary mail users.

On the final roll call vote, 178 Republicans and 39 Democrats voted for passage of the bill. Only four Republicans joined 161 Democrats in voting against it.

Postal rate increases are a rarity in an election year. All increases would become effective Jan. 1, 1957, except for second class increases which would take effect immediately once the bill became law.

In addition to increasing the rate on first class mail from 3 to 4 cents an ounce, the bill also would raise the rate on airmail postage from 6 to 7 cents.

Rates on second class rates applying to newspapers and other commercial publications would go up a total of 44 1/2 million dollars a year, becoming fully effective after five years of equal annual increases.

Kidnaper Contacted Once And Then Lost

No New Instructions Heard For Delivery Of Ransom Boosted To $5,000

WESTBURY, N. Y. (INS)—Attempts to re-establish contact with the kidnaper of infant Peter Weinberger Friday night failed to produce new instructions on delivery of the demanded $5,000 ransom.

Morris Weinberger, the month-old child's anguished father, labeled as "fake" one message received by NBC news commentator John K. McCaffrey, who volunteered himself as an intermediary in ransom negotiations.

McCaffrey, after broadcasting the parents' emphatic "am ready to meet your demands" message to the kidnaper in accordance with instructions given the family by the abductor Friday morning, said calls he received following the telecast were inconclusive.

The parents of the missing child had been advised in their phone contact with the abductor Friday morning that he would be watching the afternoon papers and listening to McCaffrey's 11 p.m. program (on WRCA-TV).

The phone call Friday morning was the first contact made since the child was snatched from the carriage on the patio of his parents' home in exclusive Westbury at about 3:15 p.m. Wednesday.

However, it was reported later in the day that representatives of Mr. and Mrs. Weinberger had made personal contact with the kidnaper, following phone calls in which the ransom demand was hiked from $2,000 to $5,000.

McCaffrey, after announcing the willingness of the wealthy drug salesman to go along with the kidnaper's demands, said he had received a cryptic phone call before going on the air.

SYRACUSE, Neb. — A hot, tired Adlai Stevenson declared Friday farmers "are ready for effective production controls if they can get proper prices."

Stevenson said he feels farmers want adequate prices and would be willing to accept such controls. "Prices," he said, "are far more important than the drought."

The Democrats' 1952 presidential standard-bearer has been touring eastern Iowa, northwestern Missouri and southeastern Nebraska on what he calls a "listening tour" to find out what farmers are thinking.

The mercury read 92 in the shade Friday as Stevenson stopped at the Callerman Service Station just north of Syracuse at the intersection of State Highways 2 and 50 for a brief news conference.

He appeared tired, and spoke quietly and seriously about the farm situation. Coatsless, sleeveless and hatless, he had his sleeves rolled up.

Looks Better

The former Illinois governor said the farm areas he toured Friday "looked a lot better" than those he visited in Iowa Thursday. He said he "couldn't see that things are so awfully bad" in the Brownville-Tecumseh-Syracuse area of Nebraska, and added that recent rains must have helped the situation greatly.

Stevenson said some areas of southern Iowa had been hit hard by drought and that "a lot" of farmers in the area have had to sell their cattle. He also said he had noticed a number of unoccupied farms.

Nebraska Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank Sorell of Syracuse told Stevenson many Nebraska farmers had also been in bad shape but that the situation has improved greatly since early June.

Stevenson said Democratic chances were looking a lot better, "especially in Iowa... but I don't know much about this (eastern Nebraska) section." He asked Sorell if the area is "Republican territory." Sorell said yes, but added the Democrats were making gains.

'Next President'

Sorell didn't know Stevenson was in the area until notified by Syracuse school teacher Cal Hager. Sorell drove immediately to the service station and, shaking Stevenson's hand, said "It is a pleasure to greet the next president of the United States."

Stevenson told Sorell he had heard some persons say the "net position" of the farmer is worse now than in 1934. Sorell said he felt it was, pointing to increased machinery and living expenses. Stevenson agreed that it "is quite different from when I was a boy."

Stevenson said he feels emphasis should be put on "genuine soil conservation" by planting more soil-conserving crops. Increased acreage on forage crops, he said, would allow the law of supply and demand to operate more normally than it now can.

No 'New Approach'

He said he couldn't say that he'd heard any "new approach" to solving farm problems while on his tour, and that he hadn't formed any ideas for new "plans" in the Democratic platform.

The Stevenson party, which included Arthur Thompson, editor of "Wallace's Farmer," and Don Murphy, also an editor of the farm publication, entered Nebraska at Brownville and drove through Auburn, Tecumseh and Syracuse and then went via Plattsmouth to Omaha to spend the night.

The only Nebraska stop besides Syracuse was at Auburn where he walked in on the surprised staff of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. He asked office manager Henry Petersen what percentage of farmers in the area were staying within their government corn allotments.

55-60 in Allotment

Petersen told him at least 55 to 60 per cent of the farmers checked so far had stayed within the allotments, thus establishing eligibility to benefit under soil bank provisions. The allotments were established on the basis of acreage planted the last three years.

Stevenson will meet with Democratic National Committee member Bernard Boyle in Omaha Saturday before flying to Des Moines in mid-afternoon.

Nebraska Men May Be Freed

2 Americans Are Returned

From Press Dispatches

HONG KONG — Chinese Reds were reported Friday to be considering the release of three Roman Catholic clergymen soon. Two of the men were Nebraskans and one a Pennsylvanian.

News of the impending release of the Most Rev. Bishop Ambrose H. Pinger of Lindsay, Neb., and of the Revs. Fulgence Gross of

FR. GROSS

Omaha and Cyril Wagner of Pittsburgh came from Catholic sources as two American Jesuit priests returned to freedom after three years in Red Chinese captivity.

The two, the Rev. John W. Clifford, 39, and the Rev. Thomas L. Phillips, 52, both of San Francisco, arrived from Shanghai aboard the German freighter Hamburg.

"It's certainly good to be back," Fr. Clifford, former instructor at Santa Clara, Calif., University told a news conference.

"I will second that," said Fr. Phillips.

Speculation said the other three religious may be released because they were recently taken on a 3,000-mile tour of China, a customary Communist propaganda practice before releasing Americans.

Bishop Pinger, 58, and Fr. Gross were both missionaries of the Franciscan order for about 20 years.

Miller Granted Limited Passport

He'll Join Marilyn On Trip ... To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department Friday granted a limited passport to playwright Arthur Miller. It means he can take a European honeymoon with actress Marilyn Monroe who became his bride last week.

The department press officer said in response to inquiries that the passport is good for six months. Normally a passport is granted for two years.

The document was given to Miller's attorney, Joseph Rauh Jr., for delivery to Miller.

The 40-year-old playwright applied for a passport last May, and was getting a passport about a month ago.

Without one, Miller would have been unable to go along when Miss Monroe leaves next week for England to make a movie.

Miller filed the affidavit a few days ago and has presented additional information of an undisclosed nature.

Details of his affidavit have not been made public.

In testimony last month to the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Miller said he had made "errors" in associations but had never been under Communist party discipline.

8 Alpine Climbers Go Down To Crash Scene ... To Help Remove Bodies And Wreckage

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—After a quick aerial inspection eight Alpine climbers went down into the Grand Canyon Friday to help American crews remove bodies and wreckage from a United Air Lines DC7.

Three of the Swiss were ferried by helicopter to the tiny ledge where the burned and shattered plane has lain since crashing last Saturday, evidently after colliding in flight with a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation.

The other five mountaineers were flown to the base of the rocky spire to try to climb up to the wreck.

History's worst commercial air disaster, the double crash claimed the lives of all 128 persons aboard the planes.

Dr. Harold Dye of Kansas City, chief of medical services for TWA, testified before a coroner's jury Friday it was not possible to say how many bodies were represented among the 26 sacks of remains removed from the TWA wreck site. The Super Constellation smashed into another plane less than a mile from the spot where recovery crews are working on the UAL plane.

TWA plans to bury 70 coffins in a 72-by-24-foot plot in the Flagstaff Cemetery in a mass interment Monday. About 200 relatives and friends of the victims are expected for the service.

The helicopters brought out 11 sacks of remains from the DC7 Friday, bringing to 13 the total recovered so far. It was not known how many bodies were included.

Dirksen 'Bets' K-State Gets Disease Lab

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) offered to bet other senators Friday that Kansas State College would win a scramble for a new 19 million dollar federal animal disease research laboratory.

Earlier in the day Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said he probably would announce in Washington, D.C., the choice of a site for the laboratory, but "not for several days."

Benson, who was in Kalspell, Mont., to address a conference of nine northwestern states' agricultural stabilization and conservation personnel, told the 10-man site committee that he would not make any announcement at once.

Benson appointed the advisory commission to recommend a site or sites and this group, representing all phases of the livestock industry, has narrowed its list to nine sites, including Kansas State College at Manhattan.

A Nebraska group, headed by Dean W. V. Lambert of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, had appeared before the committee asking that Lincoln be considered as a site.

B. T. Shaw, administrator of the Agriculture Research Service of the department, asked the Senate Appropriations Committee Friday to approve $12,915,000 to start the new center even though the site has not been selected.

He ran into protests from Sens. Thye (R-Minn.), Ellender (D-La.) Dirksen, and other senators that locations in their states had been passed over by the advisory commission. Dirksen then offered to bet on the Kansas State location but got no takers.

Other sites considered by the commission included state universities or land grant colleges in Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado.

Mother Saves 2-Year-Old Child From Kidnaper

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A terrified 33-year-old mother told police Friday that she awoke to find a masked man taking her 2-year-old child from its bed.

Mrs. Eula Phillips said her child's cries woke her and she saw the man carrying her baby. She said she screamed and the intruder dropped the child and ran from the house. The child was not hurt.

The child, Phillip Phillips, was sleeping in an adjoining bed near his parents. The father was awakened by his wife's screams, in time to see the man leave.

Police said the man gained entrance by tearing a small hole in a screen door and unlatching the hook.

The father, Richard P. Phillips, who works at Tucker Air Force Base, near here, told police he had received four anonymous telephone calls at his job in recent weeks.

He said the caller also talked with fellow workers, wanting to know when Phillips got off work and what days he was off.

Air Search Started For Pickrell Man

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL
PICKRELL, Neb. — The search for 38-year-old Clarence Zimmerman, Pickrell area farmer missing since late Thursday night, took to the air Friday afternoon.

After friends and neighbors combed the Zion Lutheran Church area for some sign of the missing man, Capt. Don Fitzwater, commander of the Beatrie Civil Air Patrol Squadron, was called in to continue the search by air.

A three-hour search by Fitzwater failed to turn up any sign of the missing man.

Zimmerman left his farm home about late Thursday night and when he did not return within a few minutes Mrs. Zimmerman and a teenage daughter began searching the farmstead for him. Friends and neighbors gathered early Friday morning and searched the timbered area of the 240-acre Zimmerman farm.

It was reported that Zimmerman, who has not been well for several years, left a note that he was going away, but gave no details. It was feared that he may be a victim of amnesia or might have injured himself somehow.

The missing man is married and the father of two children. He was described as being of medium build, about six feet tall and wearing blue overalls and shirt and a grey cap.

DEFENSE DEPT. IS WARNED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee which holds the purse strings bluntly told the Defense Department Friday to cut out "squabbling" in the armed services.

"The taxpayer will be the principal loser in such a quarrel," the Appropriations Committee said.

It directed the department to take "immediate steps" to settle one of the disputes involving the relative merits of guided missiles known as Talos and Nike as defense weapons.

This should be done by having qualified independent experts evaluate the merits and potentialities of the two missiles, the committee said.

The Navy-developed Talos has been adopted by the Air Force over the Army's Nike.

Duplication Complaint
The committee complained of what it called duplication of effort and money in building guided missile installations. It expressed its views in a report recommending $1,335,534,425 in new appropriations for miscellaneous government agencies. The bulk of the money is for military construction programs.

A Senate-House Conference Committee meanwhile voted to make 16 million dollars available for Air Force development of the Talos missile, but said the money can't be spent until stiff conditions are met.

Stiffest of these is that the Armed Services Committee of the House and Senate must agree with the military that sufficient tests have been made as to the practicability of the missile to warrant a development program.

Until that time comes none of the 16 million which is included in a two-billion-dollar military construction program can be spent.

U.S. Jurors Told Not To Appear

Fifty representative U.S. District Court jurors from southeast Nebraska, who had been called for jury duty at Lincoln starting next Monday, are being notified not to appear.

Of the six jury cases scheduled for trial, five have been settled out of court and the sixth has been withdrawn from the current trial docket because of the absence overseas of an important witness.

Dividing Mishap Fatal
SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Airman 3C William Joseph Carey, 24, of Pleasanton, Calif., died Friday of injuries received in a diving accident June 27. Carey, stationed at the Sioux City Air Force Base, broke his neck when he dived into shallow water at Crystal Lake near South Sioux City, Neb.

It was reported that Zimmerman, who has not been well for several years, left a note that he was going away, but gave no details. It was feared that he may be a victim of amnesia or might have injured himself somehow.

The missing man is married and the father of two children. He was described as being of medium build, about six feet tall and wearing blue overalls and shirt and a grey cap.

Study Of Prisoner Load Of County, City Asked

A study of the average daily prisoner load in both the Lancaster County and Lincoln City jails has been asked by a member of the newly-appointed consolidation committee.

County Commissioner Del Lienemann has written Sheriff Merle Karnopp and Police Chief Joe Carroll for this figure for the past three-year period, the ratio of male and female prisoners, and the number of week-end drunks booked.

Lienemann said he wanted this study "to determine, before we go any further with consolidation talks, if there will be enough room in the city jail to lodge the county prisoners."

"Not only now, but one, two, three or 10 years from now," he added.

City jail capacity is 80 prisoners, male and female and federal, according to police sources. Average daily load was unofficially estimated at 25 prisoners. The range has been from a low of four or five to a high of 50.

Capacity of the county jail is 36 prisoners, male and female, a county official said. Average load was estimated 20 to 25 inmates. The highest number has been "a full house."

Mayor Clark Jeary has said he has had assurances from Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Jung and Police Chief Joe Carroll that the city jail can comfortably accommodate all county prisoners without interference with the conduct for the feeding and housing of federal prisoners.

Just Facts
But, Lienemann has indicated he wants the "facts and figures" before continuing with consolidation talks.

Consolidation committee members are City Councilman Pat Ash, City Comptroller Jim Mellon, County Assessor Arthur Davis and Lienemann.

Lienemann said he hoped the first meeting of the committee can be scheduled for next week. Councilman Ash is out of the city. No committee chairman has been designated.

In addition to the jail consolidation, the committee is also to take a "fresh look" at the combining of the city and county assessing offices.

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—Officials at radio station KRUX mopped their brows Friday — but not from the city's 100-plus heat or humidity.

The station's seven disc jockeys opened their programs Tuesday and Wednesday singing Christmas carols for victims of traffic accidents "who won't be around in December to hear them."

They promised a soft drink to everyone in Arizona if the state got through July 4 without a traffic fatality. None was reported.

Board Jammed
Thursday, the station switchboard was jammed with calls and Friday a deluge of postcards arrived.

Manager John Box said 500 requests were received Thursday and "his well over the 1,000 mark now."

He said requests received through Friday would be honored. "We can't get hurt too badly, it might have helped traffic safety a little," he said.

Year-Old Baby Killed In Mishap
EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—A year-old baby was thrown from a convertible and killed late Friday when the car plunged off U.S. Highway 37 and overturned 10 miles south of this central Illinois town. Other occupants of the car escaped injury.

State police identified the baby as Dianne Vandiver of Dearborn, Mich.

Mrs. Mable D. Harris Johnson, 33, of Inkster, Mich., the driver, was passing another car when the convertible went out of control.

Nixon, Dulles Views On Neutralist Policy Not Democratic—Nehru

India Leader Claims Their Ideas Unwise

LONDON (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru said Friday night the views of Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles "are not wise and they do little good."

He added that American leaders who criticize his so-called neutralist policy take an attitude opposed to the democratic way of life.

These remarks were in response to questions mainly centered on Nixon's denunciations of India's position in the cold war.

Nehru is avoiding India on his current world tour but is visiting nations allied with the West. Friday he was in Viet Nam after a visit to the Philippines, where he spoke against neutralism.

Nehru, here for the now concluded British Commonwealth prime ministers conference, spoke at a crowded news conference in India House.

After being asked to comment on Nixon's criticisms of Indian policy, he replied with a 25-minute lecture.

Nehru said he did not like the word neutralism.

"It is a word normally used in wartime," he said.

"In peacetime the word indicates a sort of wartime mentality," he added that India's attitude simply meant it was taking an independent policy.

"We do not believe the world can be divided up into good and evil," he continued. "No country is totally good. No country is totally evil. To say we should all think alike is not at all possible."

All People

"It is not democratic, either, to want all people to think the same as you do."

Then he said that the views of Nixon and Dulles meant they felt all people should think the same as they do.

"They are saying something opposed to the democratic way of life," he said.

Nehru said India does not believe in "alignment to one side or another—for that means regimentation. I object to Communist regimentation. I object equally to non-Communist regimentation."

Act For Omaha's Parking Authority Held Constitutional

The State Supreme Court held Friday that the Omaha Parking Authority Act passed by the 1953 Legislature is constitutional.

The decision cleared this hurdle in the move to establish off-street parking under the Douglas County Courthouse Square and adjacent street.

An objection to the project had been that it would take public property for private use.

But the Supreme Court commented:

"The parking authority law was enacted for a public purpose. . . . the object sought to be reached by the statute could not be realized by the action of private individuals for the statute indicates that the purpose could not be accomplished except by the use of streets and county courthouse areas."

"Adequate controls are provided in leasing such facilities to private persons for their operation to insure that they will retain their public character. The act does not authorize the use of public property for a private purpose."

The Omaha Parking Authority instituted the test suit in the District Court, which had held the act to be unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court reversed the lower court and directed a finding in accord with Friday's decision here.

HOME IS DEDICATED

... Beatrice School Cost $327,000

BEATRICE — A stone and mortar edifice dedicated to the hope that mentally retarded children can learn and make useful citizens of themselves was officially opened here Friday.

The occasion was the completion and dedication of the Martin Luther Home for Mentally Retarded Children. The new $327,000 building, housed on a beautiful 250-acre site, will be home for a while to children in the 40-70 IQ bracket.

A tented front yard held a gathering of close to 100 persons who took in the ceremonies, including an address by Gov. Victor Anderson, and later toured the ranch-type building itself.

For the Future

Gov. Anderson, introduced by Don Boyer, superintendent of the home, told the gathering, including some of the residents of the home, that the building "stands for accomplishment, determination, and faith in the future."

"People all over the state are becoming aware of the seriousness of this problem," the governor said, "along with the national scope of the total program for these children."

"Our mental health program, of which I am especially proud, is a great stride forward," the governor said. He noted the state's efforts in coping with treatment and care of the mentally retarded through the Nebraska Committee for Youth and the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

The governor said that "altogether it looks like a much brighter future is in store for these youngsters." The economy of our nation, Gov. Anderson said, has a place for these children who grow into adults.

He concluded, "With help, guidance, and training, they can have a happy and full life."

William Reents, public relations official for the Lutheran Home, said the operations of the building will be confined to children in specified capability brackets. Older residents of the home soon will be transferred to other facilities.

Invocation during the Friday ceremonies were offered by Rev. Sam Herforth of Millard. An all-male choir added musical renditions.

These groups, along with Gov. Victor Anderson and Nebraska members of Congress, carried their objections to a White House conference with Sherman Adams, assistant to President Eisenhower.

They insisted the VA hospital be retained by the VA, and urged that funds be provided for a base hospital.

Arch Bailey, manager of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, said, "Apparently it is up to the White House to decide, because a statement was never made following the White House conference."

"The veterans organizations of Nebraska will still protest any giving up of the VA hospital here," Pat Patterson, state American Legion adjutant, said.

Patterson said the organizations hoped the funds for the base hospital would be provided. He said he does not believe that the Veterans Hospital will be changed because veterans are using the hospital "more and more."

"Very Satisfactory"

Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, manager of the Veterans Hospital, said the current plan of furnishing emergency hospitalization to Air Force personnel at the VA Hospital is working "very satisfactorily" as far as the hospital is concerned.

The House Appropriations Committee did, however, recommend a supplemental appropriation of $1,398,450,000 for military construction projects, including $2,229,000 for the Lincoln Air Force Base and $3,692,000 for Offutt Air Force Base in Omaha.

The total appropriation is 337 million dollars above the budget requests.

The recommended appropriation includes $1,228,000,000 for the Air Force and $165,000,000 for the Navy.

Other Strategic Air Command bases that were recommended for funding include Smoky Hill, Salina, Kan., $2,932,000, and Ellsworth, Box Elder, S.D., $1,347,000.

'Miss Nebraska' To Sing Lead In Pinewood Opera

Miss Diane Knotek of Lincoln, University of Nebraska junior who will represent Nebraska in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, will sing the feminine lead of Kathie in the annual city summer opera production "The Student Prince."

The role of the prince will be sung by Carlyle Weiss of Benktman. Other principals are Millie Fling, David Mickey, Christine Schubert, John Chalka, Beverly George, Ed Doekal, Marles Preheim, Monty McMahon, Robert Jewett, Margaret Hrubcsky, Paul Seick, Clark Rickel and Gerald Bacon.

The opera will be presented at Pinewood Bowl July 13 through 16. Oscar Bennett will direct the opera.

Bus service will be provided from 10th and O at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Noonan, 81, Retired Creighton Professor, Dies

OMAHA (AP)—The Rev. Herbert C. Noonan, 81, president of Marquette University, Milwaukee, died suddenly Friday. He had suffered from a heart ailment.

The Rev. Mr. Noonan, a native of Oconto, Wis., was president of Marquette in 1915-22 and before that had taught at Creighton University here, St. Marys college in Kansas and St. Louis university from where he went to Marquette.

He received his bachelor's degree at Marquette, his master's degree at St. Louis University and his Ph.D. from Gregorian university in Rome.

After leaving Marquette in 1922 he traveled widely until taking a professorship at Creighton. He retired from the Creighton faculty two years ago.

Goodbye To Base Commander May Delay City Council

Monday's meeting of the City Council may get started later than the regular 1:30 p.m. time.

The mayor and Council members will attend a noon public affairs luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce in honor of Col. William Gillespie, commander of the Lincoln Air Force Base. Col. Gillespie, who has been commander at the base here since August, 1954, will leave shortly for a new assignment to the Air War College at Maxwell Air Force Base near Montgomery, Ala.

It may not be possible, said Mayor Clark Jeary, for the Council to get back to the City Hall by 1:30. Jeary praised Col. Gillespie for the "fine co-operation" that he has given the city during his period of command.

For And Against

Final roll call on the school aid bill before the House of Representatives produced some alliances making it difficult to determine what cooks. Neither Republicans nor Democrats could stake a claim to a clear-cut support of the school aid bill.

The Powell amendment which required states eligible for federal school-aid funds to "comply with decisions of the Supreme Court" found 148 Republicans and 77 Democrats supporting it—146 Democrats and 46 Republicans opposing it. On the tally when the bill was up for final passage 119 Republicans and 105 Democrats voted against the measure while 119 Democrats and 75 Republicans were for it. The bill's defeat, it should be said regretfully, reflected too much partisanship.

Surely the roll call on the Powell amendment and then on final passage of the bill established that neither political party had a clean-cut working majority in favor of the bill.

Pioneering Never Ends

Ord wound up the celebration of its 75th anniversary with a flourish this week. Having taken due note of the town's steady progress since its birth, its citizens laid aside the past to engage in the early hours of the next 75 year period—one we dare say which will lead to developments of greater dimension and less calculability than the 75 years just ended.

Ord is an example of dozens of other Nebraska communities which in recent years have celebrated seventy-fifth or hundred year anniversaries. While it is sweet and nostalgic to look back at the pioneering days and the beginning of Nebraska's modern history these celebrations have been doing more than temporarily reviving former customs for the pleasure and entertainment of this generation. They are indeed announcing the end of an era and the preparations for a plunge into a nuclear age whose possibilities are fraught with great rewards and equally great chances.

The only thing that truly ties with the past is the willingness to venture. As surely as the pioneer took the calculated risk of an Indian arrow, life on an unproven claim, extreme hardship on a delicate balance between run and success so are today's sons of pioneers willing for the calculated risk in that modern and capricious alchemy that can produce a Nebraska beyond the stretch of current imagination, or something quite unlike that. But there is this that forecasts success. The spirit of pioneering is constructive and aggressive. It was those qualities that went out for our forefathers and the legacy remains.

It seems in this country we never get through with pioneering—nor ever get finished with progress. We just finish chapters.

Well, Look At Us!

In a summarization of six months of oil activity in Western Nebraska by the Associated Press this statement stood out:

"In every department, oilmen are smashing records—new discoveries, field wells, wildcats, dry holes and production."

In a region where eminent geologists, only a few years ago, carefully explained that oil could not exist drillers put down 482 wells the first six months of 1956. The score so far is 28 discoveries, 153 field wells and 301 dry holes.

Whether Nebraska will hit the mark of 1,000 wells during 1956 depends upon delays occasioned by the steel strike but if supplies hold up that goal may very well be reached.

So grows a new source of wealth in Nebraska and so grows and diversifies the Nebraska economy. Most remarkable about it is that Nebraska is taking it in stride. There is little of the fever and the wild speculation that has attended so many openings of new fields. With Nebraska it is business as usual.

It does not mean that Nebraska does not appraise the economic significance of gas and oil, of pipelines and new services, nor understand the inevitable impact on the state's economy. With fuel, power and water at hand the bid for industrial diversification takes on substance. Such things speak more convincingly than any glowing arguments and seductive phrases of promotional literature.

Pass It On

The country is reflecting on the latest bon mot of Secretary of Defense Wilson, his remark that there was lots of phony in congressional arguments for more money for the Air Force. He now holds the national Republican record for boomeranging epigrams, such as what's good for General Motors and dogs. It reminds that not too long ago in commenting on the charges and counter-charges being made by the brass hats in the Army-Air Force skirmish he said whales ought to be careful about spouting because it is always the spouting whales that get harpooned. That is mighty fine counsel, but we suppose that Wilson follows the Oscar Wilde school of thought. Wilde said, "The only thing to do with good advice is to pass it on. It is never of any use to oneself."

Editorial Of The Day

Nebraska Did It

(From The Denver Post)

The Territory of Hawaii is rocking with indignation these days, enough to set off explosions of volcanic proportion. It all began at the territorial state fair when a Miss Jere Wright was selected to be Miss Hawaii at the Miss America contest in Atlantic City this year.

Miss Wright has been called names that to some ears might sound dirty. She is, they say, a "haole." And, furthermore, she is a "malihini." That, translated, simply says, which is undoubtedly true, that Miss Wright is a newcomer to the islands (she attends the University of Hawaii, but actually lives in Los Angeles), and she is a Caucasian girl, born in Texas.

Worst of all, some claim she can't even hula! Maybe it's up to us, as last year's proud winners in the Miss America contest, to give Hawaiians a word of counsel: calm down. After all, we had a similar situation last year when the Miss Colorado chosen to represent us was also an out-of-state student at Colorado Woman's College. But she had snuck in here from Nebraska. But it didn't make us any less pleased with her ultimately copping the national laurels. We never even thought to inquire whether she could square dance.

Miss Wright, however, had better learn to hula. Of all things that will be expected of her when she gets to the famed boardwalk, that will be the very least. As for the crack that she is a Caucasian, shame on Hawaii for its race prejudice! So is our Miss America, and what's wrong with that?

Could Be Brutal

In spring, summer and autumn, taken time off for more vacations and generally sought relaxation more than any other President since the turn of the century. That turn of the century marks the dividing line between the old and the new—the old when an American President arbitrarily was expected to give time and energies to the office night and day—the new an era when the back-breaking character of the job facing the President was known. We think of the late Woodrow Wilson, cold and impassive in his relationships with his fellow countrymen. And we think of the late F. D. R., who for the long years seemed unbreakable when it came to health.

Mr. Truman, announcing neutrality in his attitude toward various Democratic candidates for the Presidency, nevertheless indicated he preferred others than Senator Estes Kefauver, who by virtue of his primary victory as a lone entry in the preferential ballot in this state is entitled to Nebraska's votes on the first roll call. What happens then on or in rests with the individual views of the delegates or their alter egos in the event that Senator Kefauver leaves them or they decide they have fulfilled requirements. In Omaha Saturday was Governor Stevenson to meet with the Nebraska delegation.

Would Counsel With The Commentators

WASHINGTON—Rarely does the House Foreign Affairs committee hold an open meeting. It is one of the most secretive committees of Congress, and as a result its members speak freely. They figure that what they say will not leak to the press, and it seldom does.

However, here is what happened at a recent closed-door meeting when the secrecy ban was tighter than ever—because the subject under discussion was the press.

Democratic Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio proposed a novel idea to his colleagues—to invite columnists and commentators to deal with foreign affairs to present their views before the committee.

"I have no special columnists or commentators in mind," declared Hays. "I would bring in the outstanding ones who write for the newspapers or make a specialty of foreign affairs in radio and television programs. This is a field of opinion the committee hasn't tapped, and it might be well for the committee to give some thought to the matter."

Congressman Joel Broyhill of Virginia is a good Republican who devoutly hopes Eisenhower will run again and doesn't want too much questioning of his health. But inadvertently he stumbled into the wrong answers when he questioned Dr. Donald H. Stubbs of the Blue Shield associations before the House Civil Service committee.

Dr. Stubbs was opposing an Eisenhower administration proposal to insure federal employees against sky-high medical expenses. He cited three typical operations on persons in their sixties to convince the congressmen that a federal employee who has private Blue Shield protection would lose financially if the administration insurance plan is enacted.

"I imagine that there is one illustration with which many of the members of this committee are familiar," commented Broyhill. "I was wondering why you didn't use it? We know about that."

"I think that medical literature is filled with evidence of the likelihood of recurrence of almost any disease in any person over 60—if he doesn't die from it the first time," said Dr. Stubbs.

"Thank you for the limitation, doctor," murmured Rep. Broyhill, quickly changing the subject.

President Eisenhower sent a friendly letter to R. B. McLeish, the ousted Farmers Home Administrator, thanking him for his "valuable" services and wishing him "health and happiness."

Apparently Ike overlooked the fact that McLeish was fired for excessive drinking. He also forgot the fact that on Sept. 30, 1952, Candidate Eisenhower said in St. Louis: "From the beginning we will bring into the government men and women to whom low public morals are unthinkable."

"Thus we will not only drive wrongdoers and their cronies out of the government," said Candidate Eisenhower, "we will make sure that they do not get into the government in the first place."

Note—McLeish was hired because he was a close friend of Ike's friend, Governor Shivers of Texas, and retained in office for two years even though Secretary of Agriculture Benson, a strict Mormon, deplored drinking. (Copyright 1956 By Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Shakespeare Is Not A One To Sneeze At

My wife is a repressed sneezer.

If you think being a repressed sneezer is not a serious, and even a dangerous business, you ought to examine the contusions on my scalp. They came there from violent contact with a one-volume edition of Shakespeare wielded by Mrs. F., who isn't particular about her choice of weapons. I am still combing Hamlet out of my hair.

Mrs. F. blames me because she cannot finish a sneeze. It is not my fault, honest! All I said was "Gesundheit," and that was two days ago, when she first started trying to sneeze. Maybe I did say it a little early, but how was I to know she was going to pucker up her face and then wait a while?

Instead of sneezing she unpuckered and glared at me. She said, "Now you've done it! You know perfectly well I can't sneeze when people sit around looking at me and saying uncomplimentary things."

"Gesundheit" is not uncomplimentary. I protested. "It isn't as if I had remarked on the pallid appearance of your tonsils. Besides, maybe you didn't have to sneeze, anyway."

She said her tonsils were not pallid and that she did, too, have to sneeze, and would I please mind my own business after this. I said all right and concealed myself behind the paper. The room was utterly quiet for three minutes.

DORIS FLEESON

Diverse Opinions Clouding Security

WASHINGTON—The Senate investigation of the Eisenhower air power program is ending with a long record of completely conflicting testimony on the relative air strength of the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

The contest actually is between Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and many of the key military and research officials of the Air Force. Both sides testified under oath.

The hearings have been bitter and prolonged and many were held in secret. All the testimony taken in secret was censored by the Pentagon for security. Ironically, it is defense officials, not the politicians who complain that their censor released too much that was said.

Secretary Wilson insists the differences are all a matter of opinion. Chairman Stuart Symington, a former secretary of the Air Force, and Senator Henry M. Jackson insist that these differences are in fact upon whose truth or falsity the whole structure of national security rests.

No more harsh indictment of a cabinet officer has ever been rendered than the Symington charges in open court that Wilson and his chief advisers are misleading the American people about the country's military strength as compared to Russia's. Wilson denies it in the strongest terms.

Wilson is wholly dependent on the soldier-President in this fight. So long as Mr. Eisenhower backs him, he will get by. Should the President read the testimony of

Mrs. F. broke the quiet with an angry exclamation. "You've done it again," she raged. "There I was, right on the edge of sneezing again, and you—"

This I considered unfair. I stood on my rights. I said, "I have done nothing of which I am ashamed. I have not even looked at you, nor moved a finger in your direction, nor otherwise created an anti-sneezing atmosphere."

With that she stormed out of the room.

I gave her 15 minutes, figuring that anyone ought to be able to catch a sneeze off guard in that time. I found her in the kitchen reading Shakespeare. Shakespeare is good for sneezing at our house, because it isn't opened often enough to get rid of that musty, paper dust smell that helps a reluctant sneeze amount to something.

It had started to work on Mrs. F., because just as I came in, there she was, head back and face puckered, on the verge of triumph. Then she saw me. That was when I got Shakespeare on the head.

That was two days ago, and Mrs. F. is still trying to sneeze. I tell her that she ought to forget about it and let a sneeze just sneak up on her. How can she, she wants to know, when every time her nose starts to tickle, she thinks of me?

(Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

the hearings—and there is no sign that he has done so—and decide on a retreat, the Senate will break Wilson. For it honestly feels that he may have been a whiz at General Motors but does not understand government.

When the secretary gets a question from the press or at a public gathering which he thinks critical, his reply is very apt to be, "You must think you're a senator."

The senators are not amused, including Republicans who have not noticeably sprung to Wilson's defense.

Senator Symington is ruefully aware that as a favorite-son candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, he is vulnerable to the charge that he is looking for political capital.

Perhaps he is, but detached judgment suggests that if so, Missouri's dark horse is sadly deficient in political acumen. There isn't, as of now, a vote in the whole huge record. Events could happen which will prove the toiling senators to be prophets, but it is hard to see where any present honors could be coming from.

The reverses suffered by the President's foreign aid bill indicate the public temper which has been communicated to Congress. The public is letting its guard down, for good or ill. For this, the President must take major responsibility. He has not made the case for foreign aid; he had not asked the presidential umbrella over embattled members of Congress obligated to defend at the grass roots what the grass roots does not want.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Jesus, The Name High Over All

Jesus, the name high over all,
In hell, or earth, or sky;
Angels and men before it fall,
And devils fear and fly.

Jesus, the name to sinners dear,
The name to sinners given;
It scatters all their guilty fear,
It turns their hell to heaven.

O that the world might taste and see
The riches of His grace!
The arms of love that compass me
Would all mankind embrace.

His only righteousness I show,
His saving truth proclaim;
'Tis all my business here below
To cry, "Behold the Lamb!"

By HORACE B. POWELL

Charles Wesley, who helped his brother John launch the religious movement which became known as Methodism, wrote this hymn following an unusual preaching experience in an English prayer-meeting one summer night in 1744. The service was held in a church at Laneast, in Cornwall.

Wesley was in the middle of a stirring sermon on sin when an intoxicated man in the pews arose to challenge some of his statements. From then on the man in the pulpit spoke directly to his challenger. When he asked whether the heckler actually was willing to "defend the devil" and received an affirmative answer, Wesley's verbal drive on sin became so vigorous that the man left the church.

The service was scarcely over before Wesley began planning his hymn and the writing began next day. When the verses were first published they bore the title, "After Preaching In A Church."

SEEK RELIEF FOR

10 Million Hay Fever Sufferers

By DR. SAMUEL M. FEINBERG
Professor of Medicine,
Northwestern University

Like the mother-in-law, hay fever has been the butt of many jokes—but there is nothing funny about it.

Perhaps it is the red nose, bleary eyes and sneezing that induces a sense of the comic; that's because the onlooker may not know of the sleepless nights, loss of work, sinus infections and economic toll due to the estimated 10 million hay fever sufferers in the United States.

In 1876, when the population was 50 million, there was only an estimated 25,000 to 50,000 hay fever sufferers. Does this mean hay fever is on the increase or do we just know more about it and can recognize it better?

That's only one of the questions we have to answer. Here is what we know—and what we still have to find out—about hay fever.

First of all, hay fever is a misnomer. It is neither caused by hay nor accompanied by fever. But the term has stuck.

We believe hay fever is an allergy and not a neurosis as was claimed by some in 1876 and is still being claimed by others in 1956.

This means hay fever is caused by an active substance in airborne pollen (flower dust).

This substance, when inhaled, combines with special chemicals in your nasal tissues in an explosive chemical reaction which causes swelling of the tissues.

The pollen comes from common grasses, weeds, trees and other plants which depend on the wind for fertilization rather than insects. To fertilize, these plants produce tremendous amounts of pollen to provide for chance landings on the female flower. In reproducing this way, they contaminate the air we breathe.

Deadline Missed

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The days of daily deadlines are now no more; that is, insofar as the would-be Lincoln-Lancaster County, Nebraska, Building Authority, Inc., is concerned. There was the deadline for its adoption by the city council and the county commissioners. There was the deadline for getting money in the amount of $4,500 per each from the county and the city, for the use and benefit of the authority.

There was the deadline for calling a special election to be held on Tuesday, June 26, in order to secure majority approval by the voters of this community. There were the deadlines for meetings and plans to sell the deal to the voters.

Powerful and efficient organization, closely collaborating with county and city administrative units, met every deadline except the last and most important hurdle, voter approval. They may now relax, certain in the knowledge that they did their best, though that best was not good enough to get the bonds.

LEO BARTUNEK

Twining's Report

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: General Twining made a trip to Russia and reported to the President as to Russia's preparedness. Russia's government is against giving out the amount of its war preparedness. So what could Twining report to the President that would be authentic? There is too much talk of war for the purpose of keeping Americans war-minded.

Two Sailors, Girl Held In $28,448 Bank Holdup

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Two teen-age sailors and a girl companion were bound over to federal court Friday on charges growing out of the $28,448 holdup of the Florida National Bank at Starke Thursday.

Clinton Emil Withington, 19-year-old youth from Empire, N.Y., stationed at nearby Cecil Field, made a statement to FBI agents Thursday night in which he admitted he was the lone gunman who pulled the robbery.

Marvin E. Frederickson, 19, another Cecil Field sailor whose home is in Wedderburn, Ore., and Mary Ann Reid, 23, of Jacksonville, are charged with being accessories.

All three announced they will waive indictment and the U. S. attorney expects to have them in federal court for arraignment by next Friday.

To Get Box

The trio was arrested by FBI agents as they were leaving an apartment here, nine hours after the holdup of the Bradford County bank 40 miles southwest of Jacksonville.

"They were leaving to get a box to bury the money," Agent

Fred W. Buol said at Friday's hearing before U. S. Commissioner T. V. Cashen.

Cashen fixed bond at $15,000 for Withington and $5,000 each for the others.

Buol said all but $254 of the money had been recovered. He said Withington went to Starke Tuesday and stayed at a home under the name "Dave Hudson." He got up at 2 a. m. Thursday, entered the bank by lifting a rear window, looked around, climbed on a table and went to sleep until 6 a. m., Buol related.

When the janitor arrived at 7:30 a. m., Withington bound him with tape, Buol told the commissioner and related how the teen-age sailor tied other employees, including the bank president, S. L. Peek Jr., to chairs as they arrived.

The bank vault opened by time clock at 9:10 a. m. and Withington stuffed the money in a "large envelope box," Buol said.

"He had parked his car two blocks away. He walked out the rear of the bank and drove off," said Buol. "He reported for duty at Cecil Field and put the money in his locker. He told his buddy, Frederickson, what he had done and gave Frederickson $100 at the base."

Buol said the pair took the money to the apartment here Thursday afternoon where Miss Reid joined them.

The FBI received an anonymous tip that led to the arrests. Buol said the message came from a "confidential informant."

Must Get Permit To Tap Sewer

Plumbers have been warned by the Board of Sanitary District 1 against hooking on to sanitary sewer mains without obtaining a permit to do so.

Attorney Max Kier advised the Board that he thought criminal action could be taken against such violations. He suggested, however, that specific penalties be set up by the Legislature at the coming session.

Kier is studying the possibility of prosecution for such taps without permits under existing law.

Bartunek Spent $9 Campaigning Against Proposals

A statement of $9 in campaign expenses in connection with the June 26 special election has been filed in the office of election commissioner by Attorney Leo Bartunek.

Bartunek listed the $9 spent on advertising in opposition to the proposal for a $4.5 million bond issue to finance a new city-county building.

Election laws require the filing of campaign expenses on the part of all political committees working on either candidates or propositions, issues put to a popular vote.

A political committee is defined as two or more persons associated for the purpose of raising and spending funds in behalf of or against is-

Only the one filing has been made so far on the June 26 election. The filing deadline is July 16.

County Treasurer Ruled Not Liable In Fund Shaving

The State Supreme Court ruled Friday that Scotts Bluff County Treasurer P. Cooper Ellis was not personally liable for court costs in litigation over the proper formula for distributing payments by Consumers Public Power District in lieu of taxes.

The court said the treasurer is considered a ministerial officer, but also may be vested with power and authority of a quasi-judicial character.

"We conclude," Friday's opinion said, "that the county treasurer in the instant case was required to determine basic facts in an endeavor to ascertain the manner of the distribution of the money paid to him in lieu of taxes by the consumers public power district and in addition, to construe an ambiguous statute."

"To do those things required the use of judgment and discretion on the part of the county treasurer. We hold that no liability attaches personally to the county treasurer or his surety under the circumstances presented by this record."

Other cases: — Minnie E. Driver, appellant vs. Eugene H. Nolin and Joe Vetsch, District Court, dismissal of appeal denied, 10/15/56. — Accident occurred Feb. 4, 1954 on gravel road eleven miles northwest of Fallon.

Lincoln County—Minnie W. Freese vs. Frank E. Freese, appellant, District Court, decree in divorce affirmed.

Douglas County—Opal L. Elsbauer, appellant vs. William A. and Elizabeth L. Elsbauer, District Court, decree in suit over boundary line between properties on 23rd St. in Omaha, affirmed.

'Unfriendly'

SEOUL (Saturday) INS — Acting ROK Foreign Minister Cho Chung Wan warned that his government would regard the repatriation of 48 Koreans from Japan to Communist North Korea as "an unfriendly act."

Terming the move "illegal and immoral," Cho demanded that Japan, Britain and the International Red Cross immediately call off their joint project of returning the Koreans to the Pyongyang regime by way of Red China.

Parking Meter Revenue Ruling Asked Of Court

The State Supreme Court was asked Friday to decide whether a school district is entitled to overtime parking penalties in metered areas.

Transcript of the proceedings in District Judge Victor Westmark's court at McCook was filed with the court.

Judge Westmark ruled that the McCook School District was not entitled to money derived from this source.

The school district contends that it should be entitled to overtime money from parking meters along with fines from regular traffic violations which go into the school fund under state law.

Island Pelted

MANILA (Saturday) (INS) — Thousands of persons lost their homes when a tropical typhoon, sweeping in from the Pacific, slashed across Panay Island in the central Philippines.

At least one death was reported as a result of the sudden storm which churned up winds of 55 miles per hour and pelted the island with torrential rains.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

After checking our little red book, we find that this week and the week to come are filled with a variety of activities for our neighbors in Park Manor. Not only do we know of summer vacationers and house guests, but picnics and newcomers also attract attention in our news for today. So best we write without further idle chatter.

It's a little sad, after extending a welcome to Park Manor newcomers, to say, good-bye in the same breath, to that's what happened, for Mr. and Mrs. Chris H. Sanders, who recently have moved into a new home at 1721 Brookhaven, will be leaving Lincoln this weekend for Colorado. They will be spending the summer at their summer home in Estes Park, Colo. Mr. Sanders will be returning to Lincoln in a week, but Mrs. Sanders will remain in Colorado until the end of August.

Also on our list of newcomers to Park Manor are Lt. and Mrs. Derrol L. Dennis and their four month old son, Randall. Lt. and Mrs. Dennis are now busy getting settled in their new home at 2031 Riviera Dr. Next week, however, Mrs. Dennis and her son will be leaving for Valley Springs, S. D., to spend a week visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Keyman. Lt. Dennis will be leaving also for Wichita, Kan., where he will be attending school for the next three months.

And, while we are on the subject of summer vacationers, we also would like to say good-bye to Mr. Paul Blinkinsop and her two children, Diane and Walter, who will be leaving on Thursday, July 12 for Newell, Ia. They will be the house guests of Mrs. Blinkinsop's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jensen, and will be returning to Lincoln by the first of August.

The recent Fourth of July holiday meant several parties in Park Manor. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pauley entertained at a back yard picnic on Wednesday evening, July 4, for their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wickham and Lt. and Mrs. Richard Noble of Omaha.

No Fourth of July celebration would be complete without a family gathering, so Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker and their four children, Ricki, Steven, Kim and Craig, entertained at a back yard supper at their home on Wednesday evening. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Baker and their two children, Penny and Bobbie; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baker. Of course, there were fireworks displayed for the youngsters.

Mention of the Bakers reminds us that a tradition in the family is a cake and ice cream party to celebrate a member of the family's birthday. On Friday evening, July 6, Mr. Baker celebrated his birthday and was honored by Mrs. Baker at a family party at their home.

On our list of house guests are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fowler of Chicago, Ill., who are visiting in Lincoln as the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Joe Hanger. They will be leaving for their home next week.

We also learned that Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ficke have as their house guests, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ficke, who returned from a wedding trip to Jackson Lodge and Yellowstone Park on Thursday evening, July 5. They will be staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ficke until they are settled in their new home at 1900 So. 45th St.

Also guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ficke were Mr. Ficke's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ficke and their three children, Jim, David, and Michael of Springfield, Ore. Mr. and Mrs. Ficke spent Thursday in Lincoln.

Expected guests at the home of Maj. and Mrs. Paul Ecelbarger are Maj. Ecelbarger's cousins, Mrs. Helen Russell of Ft. Worth, Tex., and Mrs. James Woodford of Odessa, Tex. They will be arriving in Lincoln on Wednesday, July 11 for a week's stay.

On the Sunday agenda for Capt. and Mrs. N. S. Paul and their four children Danny, Rebecca, Patty and Rex is a picnic at Pioneer's Park with Lt. and Mrs. Frank Burrell and their family.

A 10th wedding anniversary always is something to celebrate, but the celebration is much more fun if the plans include a surprise party. On Wednesday, June 20, Capt. and Mrs. Walter Brock, who were celebrating their 10th anniversary, were surprised by their neighborhood friends at an hors d'oeuvre party at their home.

And here we are with the continual fly in the ointment, more news but no more space until next Saturday morning when the Star will again go calling in Park Manor.

Wedding In Wisconsin

MRS. RICHARD KELLER

The marriage of Miss Dagny Ann Paaske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Paaske of Milton Junction, Wis., and Richard Dean Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keller of Altadena, Calif., formerly of Lincoln, took place on Sunday afternoon, June 10, at the Milton Junction Methodist Church. Lighted candles and arrangements of white gladioli formed the background for the 4 o'clock ceremony which was solemnized by the Rev. Cecil Dawson. Mrs. Roxa Pritchett played the wedding music and also accompanied the vocal soloist, Ivan Fritz Randolph.

The bride's sister, Miss Edith Paaske, and the bridesmaid, Miss Louise Kenney of Pasadena, Calif., wore identically styled frocks of white silk embroidered organza over pale green tulle with hulle and taffeta underslips. Each wore a frock-tied veil held to head with a bandeau and each carried a cascade bouquet of yellow daisies.

Henry Keller, Jr., of Bloomington Ill., served his brother as best man while Thomas Nelson of Hebron, Ill., was the groomsmen. The guests were seated by Richard Klebenok of Milwaukee, Wis., and William Eau Claire of Milton, Wis.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of embroidered organza over taffeta. Embroidered organza flowers edged the short-sleeved bodice and the soft portrait neckline of the short-sleeved bodice and the extremely bouffant skirt was fashioned of wide tiers of organza. A bonnet of pleated tulle held in place her finger-tip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and Amazon lilies.

Following a wedding reception at the church parlors, the couple left for the West Coast where they will make their home in Pasadena, Calif.

Had Church Ceremony

Fan-shaped arrangements of yellow and lavender Majestic daisies interspersed with tall, white gladioli formed the chancel decor at St. John's Lutheran Church in Norfolk for the marriage of Miss Susan Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Olson, to James S. Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Carson, all of Norfolk, on Sunday afternoon, June 24. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. R. L. Jobman, and Mrs. Hugo Johnson, organist, played the wedding music. Preceding the service, Mrs. Johnson accompanied Miss Norma Bossard, vocal soloist.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Anne Olson of Norfolk appeared in a frock of white flowered nylon sheer over yellow net and taffeta. She carried a bouquet of yellow Majestic daisies. Wearing identical costumes of white nylon over lavender net and taffeta were the bridesmaids, Miss Janet Carson of Norfolk, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Kathleen Boettner of Fremont, who carried lavender daisies.

Clark Rhudy of Norfolk served Mr. Carson as best man, and seating the guests were John Otten, Omaha; Joe Mesmer, North Platte; Bill Carson of Cherokee, Ia.; and Henry Olson of Norfolk.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white, imported Swiss organza over taffeta designed in the waltz length. The snug bodice was embroidered in a floral motif and shallow scallops edged the brief sleeves and shoulder-wide decolletage, which was filled in with a yoke of illusion. Beneath the pointed waist, the skirt flared into extreme fullness and was edged with the embroidered scallops. Her illusion veil was held to the head by a cap of pearl-trimmed lace, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

A reception was held in the parlors of the church after which Mr. Carson and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Kansas City, Kan.

The couple will reside in Omaha where the bridegroom is attending the University of Nebraska College of Medicine. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Phi Rho Sigma medical fraternity. Mrs. Carson, a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, will join the faculty of the Ralston School this fall.

TOWN TALK

WISH WE could tell you something we know for sure — but we can't — not yet. It seems there are a few ifs and ands attached to the story, at the moment but as soon as the all clear signal is given, we'll let you know.

In the meantime there is news around town that we think you may find interesting and, as you may suspect, most of it has to do with vacationists—

HEARD that Dr. and Mrs. J. Marshall Neely already have hied themselves off to Shell Lake, Wis., where they will spend a holiday — And today, according to our grapevine, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ames are taking off this morning for their summer home at Estes Park.

WE also learned that Judge and Mrs. F. W. Messmore, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Raynor, left on Friday for Potomac, Ida., where they will spend several weeks as the guests of Judge and Mrs. Messmore's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. John Messmore and their family.

BACK home again are Mr. and Mrs. John C. Whitten who returned home earlier this week from Greeley, Colo., where they visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Whitten.

JUDGING from all reports Lincoln residents were numerous in various sections of Wyoming during the past weeks — First we heard that Dr. and Mrs. Lee Stover and their family were out in the Jackson Hole country — in Yellowstone Park and other places of interest — And doing just about the same tour of Wyoming were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vandervoort.

Occasionally it was "old home week for the Stovers and the Vandervoorts kept running into more Lincoln people — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. John Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Westcott, Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seward and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cook — all of whom had been attending the Bankers Life convention at Jackson Hole.

A unique feature about this convention concerns the small fry — They more or less have their own headquarters, with adequate supervision — once for the children — nicer still for their parents.

SO much for the morning travelogue and on to other news — Hear that Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DeTeau will be host and hostess at a family dinner on Sunday evening at the Lincoln Country Club when they compliment Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Van Kirk of Washington, D.C.

Former Coed Is Bride

MRS. ROBERT LOUIS EDWARD GILMER

Miss Anne Jane Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paige J. Hall of Eugene, Ore., former residents of York and Lincoln, became the bride of Dr. Robert Louis Edward Gilmer, son of Mrs. Louis A. Gilmer of Charles City, Ia., at a 4 o'clock ceremony on Sunday, June 17, at Eugene. Clusters of lighted white candles and arrangements of white roses and smilax decorated the chancel of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, for the double ring service, which was solemnized by the Rev. Perry Smith, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. William Dolph Jones, organist.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Joanne Gilmer, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Gilmer's floor-length frock was fashioned of crystalline in the watermelon pink shade and was completed by a matching bolero jacket. She wore a small cap of white feathers and carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Dr. John Richard Wagner of Sioux City, Ia., served as best man, and seating the guests were Dr. Robert Strohm of San Francisco, and Dr. Gale Fletcher of Junction City, Ore. Leon Fitzgerald, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles and served an acolyte during the service.

The bride appeared in a gown of traditional white satin touched with imported Alencon lace. Iridescent sequins and seed pearls patterned the floral motif of the lace-over-satin bodice, which was designed with long, tapered sleeves, and the satin skirt, caught into unpressed pleats, extended into a train. A cap of jeweled lace held her veil of marquisette, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

A reception was held in the Empire Room of the Eugene Hotel, after which the couple left for San Antonio, Tex., where Dr. Gilmer will serve as a captain with the Air Force at Randolph Air Force Base. Mrs. Gilmer wore for traveling a navy blue sheath ensemble trimmed with white lace.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Alpha Iota music sorority, the bride served as a Countess in the 1933 Court of Ak-Sar-Ben. She sang with the St. Louis Municipal Opera Company during the 1932 season and received her Masters Degree from the University of Oregon.

Dr. Gilmer is a graduate of the University of Iowa Medical School and served his internship at Sacred Heart Hospital, Eugene, Ore. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and served as president of Phi Beta Phi medical fraternity.

John Flynn, and Miss Catherine Gillespie, who will play the wedding music, will accompany the vocal soloist, Bud Imlay.

Alike, waltz-length frocks of tulle over taffeta will be worn by the attendants including the maid of honor, Miss Patricia Zandina, who will wear pink; the bridesmaid, Mrs. Darrell Montgomery, in teal blue; and the bridesmaids, Miss Melba Staley, in the yellow tone, and Miss Susan Neitzel, sister of the bridegroom, in pastel green. Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the puzzle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Com. Swing Defends Hunting Trips; 'Incidental' To His Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing, accused of using government planes, jeeps and air-conditioned trailers for hunting forays into Mexico and Canada, said Friday the hunts were only "incidental" to his job.

Testifying before House Government Operations subcommittee, Swing said the trips were aimed at bettering "working relationships" with border officials of neighboring countries and at coordinating plans and gathering information.

"I say openly, I've used government planes," Swing said. "I've gone hunting, and I have always worked on my job trying to complete and build up our relationships with our neighboring countries."

The retired general, a West Point classmate of President Eisenhower, added with emphasis that "unless the committee tells me not to" he's going on more of the trips.

Committee Chairman Mohrman (D-Wy.) said Swing took five "hunting trips," three to Mexico and two to Canada. Mohrman has been a severe critic of Swing's hunting of two other retired generals to top Immigration Service posts, a subject of prior investigation by the House group.

The open hearing also produced:

1. An exchange of letters between Mohrman and Atty. Gen. Brownell, in which Brownell said subcommittee investigators improperly asked junior Immigration Service officers about "unsubstantiated allegations" made against Swing.

Mohrman replied that the subcommittee had previously gotten the cold shoulder in its investigative job, and he recited a long list of allegations which he said came from "reliable eye witnesses" both within and outside the service.

Testimony brought out that some of the allegations were made in an anonymous letter to Mohrman. Swing's response amounted to a point-by-point denial.

JOSEPH M. SWING... used government jeeps, trailers, planes

2. Testimony from Swing that Brownell asked him in August 1953, while Swing was commander of the 6th Army Headquarters at San Francisco, to prepare a plan to stop the horde of invaders—illegal immigrants—across the southern border.

Swing said he drew up a plan called Operation Cloudburst which would have sealed off the southern California border with Mexico, using some 4,000 Army men in a regimental combat team.

But he said he advised against adoption of the plan, and that he was appointed the following February as immigration commissioner with the job of tightening up the borders.

Since he has become commissioner, Swing added, the flow of illegal "wetback" immigrants across the country's southern border has been checked with a border patrol increased only from 1,000 to 1,400 men.

Plainview Urges Highway 20 Paving

A delegation from Plainview Friday urged paving of the 12-mile stretch of U. S. 20 between Plainview and State Route 93 with concrete.

The present blacktopping is badly worn, the group told Gov. Anderson and State Engineer L. N. Ress.

Ress said the Highway Department has plans to resurface the stretch with asphaltic concrete.

E. G. Dickinson, Plainview, president of the Highway 20 Assn., was spokesman for the five-member delegation.

Possibility of a new bridge to carry U. S. 20 across the Missouri at Sioux City came into the discussion.

"Thirteen thousand cars a day are using Dakota Avenue at South Sioux City. I don't know how they do it," Ress commented.

"It's a two-lane facility and worn out," he said.

Ord Team Wins
 A baseball game featured the Ord and Loup City teams and Ord won a close 5-4 victory over the visiting nine.
 More than 10,000 persons viewed the huge fireworks display in the evening, which was sponsored by the Ord Fire Department and Ord Rotary Club. The evening program included a review of the winning parade floats and a second performance of the jubilee pageant.
 Picnic grounds were packed to capacity during the celebration with many picnic groups being forced to eat wherever space was available throughout various parts of town.

County Attorney Fitzgerald Ruled Out Next January

OMAHA (AP)—District Judge Edmund Nuss of Hastings, Neb., ruled Friday that Douglas County Attorney Eugene F. Fitzgerald will be out of office next Jan. 3.
 Judge Nuss held:
 Fitzgerald, elected in 1954 to serve until January, 1959, created a "short-term" vacancy in the county attorney's office when he filed as a candidate for the District Court bench last February.
 Election Commissioner Herman E. Kuppinger properly accepted the filings of Joseph H. Moore, Republican, and Thomas P. Kelly, Democrat, for the short-term nominations.
 The names of Moore and Kelly should appear on the Nov. 8 election ballot.
 Fitzgerald said he will seek a new trial. If Judge Nuss overrules the motion, Fitzgerald said he will appeal to the Supreme Court.
 Judge Nuss was called in to handle the politically touchy question.
 Fitzgerald filed for the bench thinking his father, District Judge James M. Fitzgerald, would retire. However, the elder Fitzgerald decided to keep his court post when the Supreme Court ruled the Judges Retirement Act not yet in effect.
